Dear Paul—

Have a good time next year with track and CC. Remember that night sliding till 2.

David Jacob

To the greatest kid in Geometry. Don't let Mr. B. Brewster you and I want to see you with a letter jacket next year. Take her easy and don't strain yourself in summer school. See you next year. Mark

David

Hello Paul... your never ending quick wit has brightened my year.
You're my track idol.
David

"Paul for the heck of it"
here I am!
to a great kid who always did a good job of sitting in front of me in English.
Keep smiling
@Anie

Paul:
This we've had a blast old "Paul" year with the your "Paul" Hope I'm in next year. Deutch classe again
P.S. Don't

Paul,
a talkative kid in study hall who got me kicked out of the library, and a smart geometry student see you this summer

Paul -
 Diese Jahre war
 eine gute Jahre.
 Unsere liebe Lehrerin war sehr schwer, aber sie war auch sehr nett. Sie lehrte gut. Hoffentlich wird nächsten Jahre besser
 sein. Fröhlicher Sommer, Dein Freund,

Paul,
 Boy do I hate signing
 yearbooks but anyway I hope you find something in there;
 keep up the work, watch girls to, keep the blood circulating and don't forget this person. I'll see you in Burrows next year.

Paul,
of all the classes, I think Math has been ^{the} far boringest but Burrows made up for
it. See you next year

Paul,
 You're great since of humour, has helped make English and Borrowed less monotonous. I hoped you continue to be in my lighter classes and bring out the lighter sides of things. I have a nice summer! Jennie

Dear Paul
 So you want me to

This new edition of the Birch Log signifies the end of another school year. Hopefully for each of you, this year has been marked in the pages of your personal history book. I trust there are a number of major accomplishments to which you can point with pride. This memory book should serve to remind you of the life and times of our school during the year just past. My hope is that your memory of these months will be pleasant, now and in the years to come.

For the seniors, this is the end of the beginning. Your life will take on a new dimension with the awarding of the high school diploma. To the juniors, the year ahead offers an opportunity unexcelled for continuing the programs begun by the class of '70. And to the sophomore class, new areas of responsibility are opening to you as you look forward to the time when it will be your task to assume the major responsibility for student leadership.

And so, as we close the record for the 1969-1970 school year, may I wish for each of you a most pleasant and happy future.

Richard H. Coelson

Principal

Officials direct school affairs

The administration of any school, especially of a large one, needs a department whose function is to directly deal with relations between students and administration. Mr. Bittner's job is to see that this function is fulfilled with maximum efficiency. The smoothness of East student-administration relationships in a time when concepts of student involvement in school affairs are changing as rapidly as today is a tribute to the effectiveness and efficiency of Mr. Bittner and his staff.

Another contribution of Mr. Bittner, and one of which most students are unaware, is his service in a key post in the athletics program. All students owe a vote of thanks to Mr. Bittner for his part in coordinating these enjoyable contests.

Mr. Bittner's efforts toward not only efficiency in the administration but also toward good relations between the students and the administration have greatly improved the effectiveness of education at East.

Mr. Victor Bittner, Assistant Principal

Mr. Joe Berini

Mr. David Fraser

Counselors satisfy educational needs

In a large and crowded school, the individual student may feel as though he has shrunk to the status of only one more body hurrying through the halls. At East, this problem is further compounded by the split scheduling and computer programming necessitated by our large student body.

The purpose of the counseling staff is to assure that the personal needs of each student at East are met as well as possible by his educational experience. The guidance counselors are both willing and prepared to help any student benefit as much as possible from his three years at East High School, as well as aiding students with personal problems. In addition, the counselors aid students in planning their future through administration of college entrance tests, study of academic, vocational and technical education, and discussion of other career possibilities. The counselors seek to help every student evaluate his strengths and weaknesses and then choose a course of action suited to his needs and skills.

Birch Loggers do it again

Anyone who has seen the sign on the door at the end of the third floor hall must wonder what powers of evil carry on their strange rituals behind it. In the daylight, this recess appears innocent and harmless, but let anyone dare to venture beyond it after dark and they may see strange things, flickering lights and disjointed figures, as the staff works desperately to meet their deadlines.

Nancy Bagley is top man on the totem pole of this year's annual. Bruce Ojard is the sole photographer. Most of his hours are spent either taking or developing pictures. Without the efforts of the staff, and those of our advisor, Mr. Gordon Carlson, this Birch Log would not have been possible.

The power of the band

The East band, under the direction of Mr. Donald Smith, has expanded its program considerably this year. In addition to concert and pep band, band members participate in wind ensemble and stage band. To help Mr. Smith with his schedule, as well as to aid Mr. Mix with the choirs, Mr. Gold has been added to our staff.

Band officers are: Sue Schultz — President, Joy Davis — Vice President, Sue Davis — Secretary-Treasurer, and Brad Wilmot, Equipment Manager. Both the concert and stage bands present concerts during the school year, and the pep band performs at all home games and pep assemblies. The band as a whole marches in the Christmas City of the North Parade. East High wouldn't Stand Without the Power of the Band!!

Orchestra supplies culture

The orchestra has not been one of the better known organizations of East High School. Neither have they regularly been given the recognition that they deserve. Yet, the orchestra provides its members with enjoyment and achievement. As one member testified: "Playing in the orchestra has provided me with a rewarding experience. The group enjoys playing together and we are all given a feeling of real achievement when one of the piece is well done."

The orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Pettigrew. The year's officers include: President, Scott Ingram — Vice President, Kevin Mattson — Secretary, Sue Ostezeski — and Treasurer, Liz Johnson. Under this leadership, the orchestra plays on.

The varied carols I hear

A fine choir has been a tradition of East High School. This year's choir is no exception. Mr. Mix characterized the A'Cappella Choir as a performing group with great spirit and loyalty. Everyone in choir enjoyed participating in the ensemble, and choir is one activity missed by stu- dents when they leave East. The choir continued their traditional activities this year. For the first time, the choir and orchestra presented their Christmas concert in the Arena-Auditorium. East high and the whole East com- munity have always been able to take pride in their choir. This year continued the tradition.

Student involved in school affairs

Traditionally, student government has been a mockery of the concept of self-government. Last year, the Student Council began an effort to make East student government a reality. This effort was continued in 1970. The Student Council, led by John Schmidt as President, Dave Blustin as senior Vice President, Dave Spicer as junior Vice President, Mary Livingston as Secretary and Eric Fredericks as Treasurer, extended self-government to all students at East by abolishing requirements for participation. Every student at East had the opportunity to be involved in student council by attending meetings and making their feelings and ideas known.

Student Council had the goal this year of concentrating on the important issue of school — education — and by-passing the unimportant or irrelevant aspects of public school. Thus, the traditional concerns of Student Council — dances and dress codes — were no longer the major concerns of student government this year. East has become a school where students take an interest in the major concerns of school life.

National Forensic league speaks

The NFL (that's National Forensics League, not the National Football League) is an organization whose members earn membership through participation in some field of debate or speech.

After students have obtained their membership, they are able to work toward advanced degrees. They are also entitled to attend the fall and spring student congresses, and each spring the district NFL tournament is held. This year the advisor is Mr. Eric Peterson, and the president is Bruce Blehart.

Thespians produce and act dramas

The East Chapter of the National Thespian Society has two purposes. The first is to recognize student achievement in the areas of acting and backstage work. The second is to encourage the production of superior dramatic endeavors at East. Membership can be earned through participation in class plays, one-act plays, and work on stage, makeup, set and costume committees.

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Canfield, the society sponsored plays throughout the year. Many members also participated in the summer musical.

Quill and scroll prolific writers

If a student at East is interested in the field of journalism, he may work on either the Greyhound or the Birch Log. Extraordinary ability and achievement on the part of members of these staffs is rewarded by admission to Quill and Scroll. To be eligible, one must be in the upper third of his class and have the recommendation of the publications' advisors. Somewhere, hidden among the present members of Quill and Scroll, may be the Pulitzer prize journalists of tomorrow.

honor society tutored students

Requirements for entrance into the National Honor Society are difficult to meet. Candidates are required to do well scholastically (seniors must have a 3.25 and juniors 3.5 Average), but scholastic achievement is not the only criterion. Members must also pass the test of faculty inspection and measure up in character, leadership and service. The attention of this year's honor society has been concentrated upon continuing the traditional tutoring program.

A week of red and grey

Red and Gray Day is the focus of student attention during the winter months. Backed by a student poll demanding more action, the Red and Gray Day Committee expanded activities into previously untouched areas. From the simple events of coronation, dance and game, Red and Gray Day has grown to include, arm wrestling, all-star volleyball, snomobile racing, wrestling, and cake eating. "Something for Everyone" — the motto of the Red and Gray Day committee.

The most popular of the new events were the lottery, run by a coalition of Nerkey Enterprises and Dave Spicer, and the crowning of Mr. and Mrs. East, Mrs. Hawley and Mr. Skoog. The obvious impartiality of those who conducted the competition was reflected in the satisfaction of everyone with the outcomes.

To cap off the festivities, Debbie Johnson was crowned Miss East 1970 at the coronation dance. The dance followed the traditional basketball game. This year the 'Hounds lost to Cloquet, but nonetheless clinched the district title — a fitting end.

Debaters do it for the Gipper

Although this year's team returned only one of four starters from last year's very successful team, Coach Peterson nonetheless was not disappointed. This year's squad was quite strong, especially in the essential two-man tournaments.

Debating the resolution "Resolved, That Congress should prohibit United States unilateral military intervention in foreign countries," the team traveled to tournaments almost every weekend, and also sponsored their own invitational tournament, the "Gipper" classic.

The Greyhound is East High School's own paper, published at regular intervals under the direction of Neal Hessen and guidance of Miss Paul. This paper brings to the student all the important news of high school — sports, activities and gossip. As a special addition, a collection of horoscopes and brain-challenging puzzles known as "Canis Minor" becomes the proud possession of every Greyhound subscriber.

The Greyhound is an open forum for East student's important editorial opinion. In addition, it performs the function of keeping all students informed as to essential school happenings.

Web of Murder

In its production of the winter play, Web of Murder, the East Chapter of the National Thespian Society did a fine job with a rather poorly written play. The major device of the playwright was an intricately woven series of murders, which the spectator had to unwind. The major asset of the production was the fine acting and directing by the students, which made the play enjoyable.

Cohorts in the scheme were Papa Jules, Uncle Joseph, the very anxious Alfred.

"My Three Angels" (Jerry Pittman, Bart Schneider, and Craig Oberg) are in fact three convicts who spend Christmas Eve at the home of Felix Ducotel (Mike Cohen). They are being repaid for saving Felix's Daughter, Maria (Gail Plewacki), from committing suicide. The "angels" arrive just in time to rescue their benefactor, a merchant in French Guiana, from losing his job. Not only are they able to remove the cause of Mr. Ducotel's misfortune's, but with the aid of their pet snake, the "angels" also succeed in ending Marie's unhappy love affair. Coupled with the fortunate arrival of David Wheeler, the "angels" actions restore peace and harmony to the Ducotel's happy home.

Open Mind: ideas expressed

The editor of this year's Open Mind, the literary publication of East High School, was John Wolff, with junior assistant Jim Buck. Business was managed by Rex Levang, assisted by Mike Grigoni. Typing was the concern of Marcia Chabot and Cheryl Tosseland.

The purpose of the Open Mind is to provide an outlet for the creative outpourings of the East residents. Contrary to popular opinion, anyone is allowed to contribute their artistry. There is no limitation on the type of material submitted — writing, photography, art and music are all published by the staff of the Open Mind, if their worth is sufficient. The Open Mind also seeks to expand and develop the critical abilities of its staff through evaluation of the submissions.

Girls' Club: fun and service

Most organizations at East have some kind of limits on membership, or their membership is somewhat limited by the very characteristics of their activity. One organization that seeks to involve as many students as possible is the Girls' Club.

The traditional activities of Girls' club were continued this year under the director of President Lorries Stromme, Vice President Linda Davern, Secretary-Treasurer Liz Johnson, and Chaplain Linda Mars. The theme of the fall Patch Dance was "Old Fashioned Days." The usual Father-Daughter Dance, enjoyed by both members and their fathers, was held in the spring. Youngsters enjoyed the Easter Party.

Cadets help school run smoothly

Have you ever needed twenty-two periodicals from the library for a term paper due tomorrow? Does your school day include losing at least three of your books? Did you recently discover that the vending machines in the cafeteria consume money as if it were essential to them? Did you ever rush down from Phy. Ed. to the shower only to discover, as you emerged, dripping wet, that there were no towels? Have you ever wanted to use the stage lights, or send a note to one of your friends, or have your organization's vitally important announcements read to the school? If so, you have taken advantage of the services of those student who give up a free hour to serve the school — the service cadets. Even though the only recognition these people receive is an invitation to the annual service banquet at year's end, they give up their time to help East High School become a efficiently functioning body, and to make life easier for you.

The mighty rugged gridders grind on!

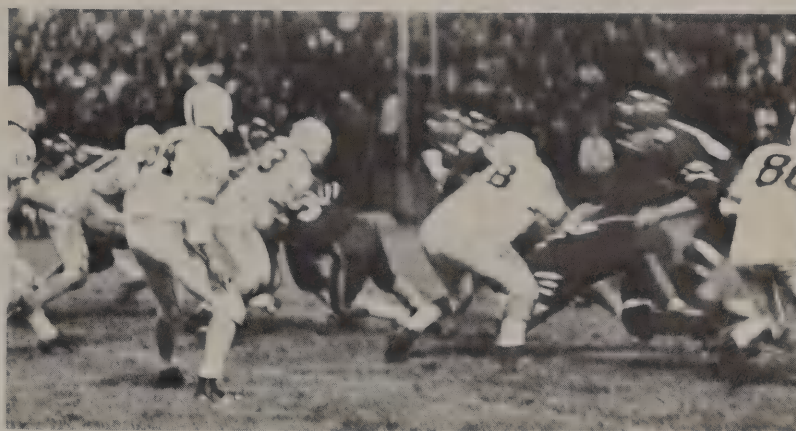

This year's team was not as successful as East football teams have been in recent years, but they still finished with a winning record. The offense, although hampered by injuries to Rick Shefchik and Scott Koidahl, still scored 100 points. The defense showed their mettle by rising to the big game — the Greyhounds shut out both Morgan Park and Cloquet, division champions of the Big Ten Conference. Morgan Park, which went on to the mythical championship of Northern Minnesota, was only able to grind out a scoreless tie with the hard-hitting East team.

Coach Mrkonich said this of the 1970 football Greyhounds: "We had a good bunch of boys this fall, but they were hit by some tough injuries. These injuries hurt us. We were also a young team. There were only fourteen seniors listed on the roster, and I think that the boys showed real well, considering the number of juniors that were in playing every game. I feel that we had a team that was capable of beating everybody."

Homecoming '69: a week of excitement

Homecoming festivities in 1969 began with the Pizza Fest on Tuesday, October 14, followed by the destruction by bonfire of the artistically superb creation of Neal Hessen and associates.

Wednesday was filled with activities, beginning with the morning assembly, at which the candidates and their escorts for the dance were introduced — Jane Ferris and Scott Koidahl, Kris Meyer and Paul Olson, Mary Livingston and Dave Ringsred. Before game time, the Puffathon and Car Caravan brought the East fans to Griggs Field, where the junior girls presented Coach Mrkonich the game ball.

Despite a loss to Silver Bay in the football game, spirits were high at the evening dance. Mark Junkert presented the candidates. Football Captain Rick Shefchik crowned Kris as Football Princess, after which she tearfully received a dozen roses from Mary Beth Nevers and Pat Buchanan. As every year, this year's Homecoming was a successful one. All the students who attended had an enjoyable time.

Cross Country wins

How many of you people have ever thought about the cross-country team? How many of you have even heard about the exploits of the "thin clads"? Yes, I thought so. And yet this year's cross-country team was the most successful of the fall sports.

At the Two Harbors meet, the East team won both individual and team titles in all three races, a regional first. This means that not only the team as a whole, but an individual runner from East won each race. With Tom Houghtaling setting a new regional record, the team also took the region. In the state, East placed twelfth, a very good showing.

Cager's team spirit spells success

At the beginning of the basketball season, Central was picked by the prognosticators as the team to beat. As usual, they were wrong. The East basketball team, although only one starter returned from last year's conference championship team, was the power of the Tri-State area regular season.

The basketball team was characterized this year by balance. No one player dominated; instead the essential ingredients were teamwork and accurate shooting and passing. The defense was once again bruising; the "patented East zone press" was only one ingredient.

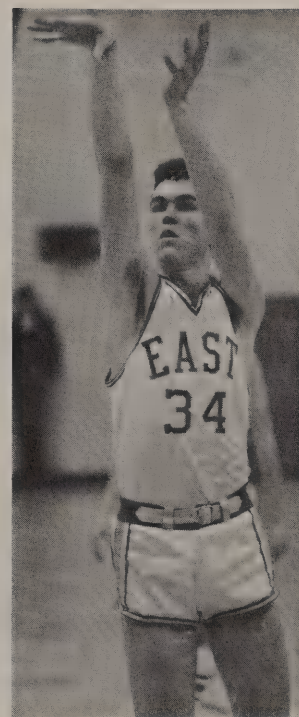

The results of the spirit and teamwork of the East team were gratifying — both conference and district championships belonged to the East team. Led by Paul Patterson, Curt Obert, Chuck Schweiger, Rich Hill, Mark Johnson, with fine second half help from 6'9" sophomore Mark Lindahl, the team compiled a regular season record of 15-2. The only losses, to Cloquet, were avenged during the district by a score of 68-29.

Hockey team skates to victory

The hockey team got off to a fast start this season, winning eleven games before dropping a one-goal decision to Roseau. After this loss, the team bounced back to take four games from Proctor, Cathedral, Morgan Park and Cloquet, all by convincing scores. The rematch with Cathedral was a closely fought contest, which ended with the 'Hounds absorbing another one-goal loss. The team again bounced back and went into the tournaments seeded first in the district.

Tournament season was both staisfying and disappointing for East fans. It was satisfying because the team did better than many had predicted, taking Greenway into overtime before losing. It was disappointing because the regional game was a close one, one which could have gone either way.

The team as a whole was balanced, although there were standouts on both offense and defense. The line of Scott Koidahl centering Bill Bailey and Brad Sorenson was one of the best in the state. Defensemen Van Hammerstedt and Jim Steve were also exceptional. The 1970 hockey team was one of the best in recent years.

Smile!

Curling is here to stay

Curling is a rather new sports at East. Many of the students, including the author of this article, know little or nothing of the rules of the game. The team consists of Archie Clark, Tom "Nyman" Nygard, Dale Taran, Mike Mihelick, and Jim Bradshaw. The team did well, participating in the state bonspiel. Perhaps with the years, enthusiasm may build up for the curling team.

So that's how it's done!

Ski Team second in state competition

To many people, skiing is a joyful experience — freezing down the slopes with the wind in your hair and the snow biting your face. For the ski team, skiing is less enjoyment and more work. The successful season of this year's team is a tribute to their perseverance and hard work. Finishing first in the city and second in the Cloquet invitation, district and state meets, the skiers were defeated only by defending champion Cloquet.

Unlike many other East teams, the ski team operates almost independently from the school. Many races and course maintenance are paid for by the skiers themselves. At the state meet, they were the only team to accept a trophy without uniforms. The team returns all state competitors except John Gould. Perhaps with a little school backing, they could take state next year.

Co-ed Volleyball

After only three years of competition, co-ed volleyball has passed curling in popularity among winter sports. Leading the league in injuries sustained with 14 was Rhubott's Hot Shots, while Olga's Ogres matched this mark in injuries inflicted.

Swimmers splash on Swimming is a difficult sport in which to compete. Dieticians tell their patients to swim because swimming uses every muscle in the body; any swimmer coming home after practice could have told you that. Swimming requires stamina.

At the beginning of the season, prospects for the swimming team didn't seem too bright. Almost all of the boys from state or regional competition last year had graduated. In addition, John McEwen, a fine free-styler, was injured during a hunting accident. Nonetheless, Co-captains Doug Day and Bill Graven led the team to a successful season. The swim team lost only two dual meets, both to a strong Superior team. In the districts, the team did less well and did not qualify for regional or state competition.

This year's team looks to be especially strong in the hurdles and mile and long distances.

Batmen have zest!

With the strength of the returning lettermen, East's baseball team looks as if it will be very good in the coming season. Some remarks from a member of the team, Ed McCall: "The baseball team this year has a reputation to live up to. Last year's team did very well, going as far as the districts before losing in a tough extra-inning game to a very strong Central team. This year, barring injuries and sore arms, they should go all the way. A lot of veterans are returning from last year's team, and the Hounds should be experienced at every position, with the classic team — strong up the middle."

Cheerleaders spark enthusiasm

What would high school be without cheerleaders? Whatever the answer to that question might be, it seems as though cheerleaders are here to stay. And this year's cheerleaders were the quintessence of their occupation. Bubbly, vivacious, smiling and full of pep, the cheerleading squad lent their own something to games.

The hockey squad, captained by Pat Buchanan, cheered at both hockey and football games. Other members were Margaret Griffith, Shelley Pendleton, Mary Christiansen, Sandy Leeman and Linda Davern.

The captain of the basketball squad, which cheered with the hockey squad at football games, was Mary Beth Nevers. Members of the squad were Debbie Johnson, Nancy Gustafson, Judy Stephenson, Cindy Hartland, and Jenny O'Melia.

In addition to leading the student body at games, the cheerleaders promoted school spirit during the week by pep assemblies, posters, and showcase displays. The cheerleading squad is an essential aspect of public high school life.

The Statue of Liberty??

Co-captains: Marg Harden, Colleen Sheeks.

Drill Team showed skill with flags

The drill team, also known as the flag twirlers, long have been a distinctive feature of halftime performances at East athletic events. The squad, made up of members Nancy Harmer, Sue Wasson, and Sandy Goranson, were led by co-captains Marge Harden and Colleen Sheeks. Sandy Peterson, as alternate, took the place of any girl unable to perform.

Almost every school has a majorette squad, but the East drill team is an activity that labels the East home game. The girls' routines are practiced for long periods of time, and the drill team is a highlight of East intermissions.

I only had one cavity!?!

Practice makes perfect!

A close knit group . . .

Twirlers provide honor guard for Homecoming.

Majorettes perk up half-time activities

One of the bright points of any basketball or football game is the halftime performance of the majorettes. Headed by co-captains Dairlyn Ness and Kay Emerson, the squad consisted of Joy Friedman, Lois Voorhees, and Janice McGinn. The girls practiced long hours, perfecting new and original routines, which delighted the spectators. Congratulations to the majorettes — practice does pay off!

You're facing the wrong side!!!!

Alternate Cheerleaders: top: Cathy Hughes. bottom: Mardi Peterson.

B-Squads end with 7-3 record

Since few people attend the junior varsity games, the results of efforts by the B-squad majorettes and cheerleader are often unnoticed. Even though very few people ever view their performances, however, these majorettes practice as diligently as do their senior squad members, and prepare their routines with care. The B-squad cheerleaders efforts show similar care in preparation. These loyal girls are often the only spectators at B-squad games, but their spirit and pep are effective in cheering on the team.

Tennis

The tradition tennis power in Region Seven, East looks to continue its domination this year. The team will be especially strong in the girls' division, with Debbie Douglas, Mary Beth Nevers and Margaret Griffith returning. The Boys' return Pete Jeronimus and John Jaros from last year's region team, and Tom Griffith will be an added asset to the team. It seems like another title for East is in the picture.

Bottling

East students are ever on the alert for new diversions, trying as they do to find some ways to pass the long northern nights. A group of brash young boys and girls discovered, or should we say invented, the sport of bottle rolling.

The bottle rolling team consists of Camilla Anderson, Dave Amundson, Nark Nordman, Jackie Reeves and Paula Schultz. Coach Doug Braff's statement that the team "shapes up well this year" may state the facts too cautiously — the bottlers are not only undefeated but unopposed in twelve contests. As this group of young sophomores lose only their coach; they expect a three year reign as the hurlers of the region (world?).

Our bottlers' practiced style brought easy victory.

Returning lettermen: (L-R) (missing) Chuck Schweiger, Rich Hill, Neal Hessen.

Golf

After a disappointing district tournament that saw five individual members qualify last year but the team title go to Cloquet, the East golfers expect to bounce back to the style that saw them take the state title in 1968. Led by Chuck Schweiger, Rich Hill and Neal Hessen, chances for the boys seem bright. Another state title may be in cards for East High School.

row 1: Beth Galibery, Shelley Pendelton, Gloria De Santo, Lynn Dravern, Karen, Sue Schultz, row 2: Jan Jiffy Claypool, Beth Grobe, Dorothy

Olson, Denise La Due, Judy Stephenson, Lorraine Hall, Lou Ann Grady, row 3: Debby Swanson, Mary Christiansen, Johnson.

Girls' athletics

The most obvious evidence of male chauvinism at East High School is the fact that, while boys' sports are given thirty or so pages, girls' sports are all squeezed onto one page. Now, this may not give you pause, or affect you greatly, but the girls at East who show athletic ability are concerned about it. These girls have little variety from which to choose. Volleyball, swimming or golf — that really gives you little choice, especially during the winter.

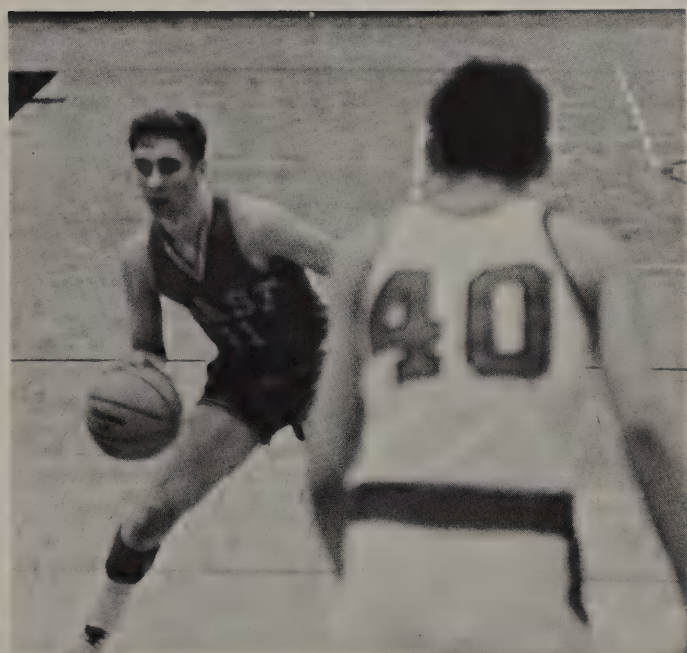

Even with these obstacles to overcome, the girls' sports have generally been successful, winning city and area titles.

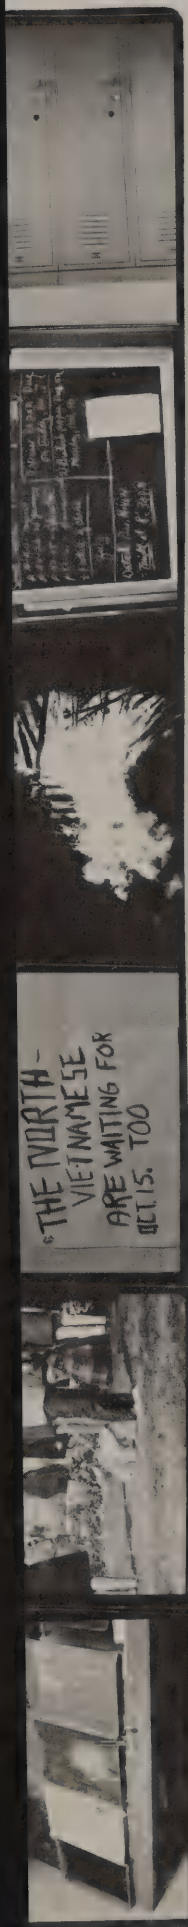

Give up! You are all wet!

Nancy Lee speaks on Girls' State

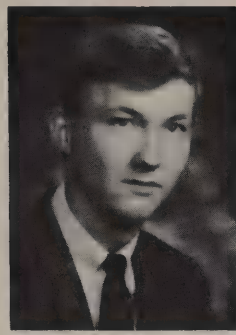

The best memories of my week at Girls' State are the atmosphere of friendliness and sincerity and the constant exchange of ideas. One girl from each high school attended the "workshop"; few of us knew more than two or three of the other 480 girls when we arrived. No one had an image to fulfill or a reputation to live up to.

Some of the best friendships I made were started in a lunch line, or over the wall-to-wall row of sinks, as I borrowed someone's toothpaste, or next to a telephone as we both waited to make somewhat tearful calls home on Saturday night.

As a learning experience, Girls' State was invaluable. The speaker we heard, the discussions we held, and the units of government we structured gave me a much clearer idea of the functions of local and state governments. This knowledge is valuable to any well-informed American citizen and prospective voter. I would like to thank the student body, faculty, and administration for giving me the opportunity to learn so much in such a unique way.

Rick Shefchik: 1969 Boys' Stater

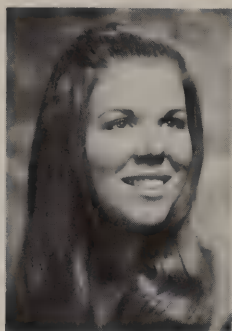

It is not difficult to write a basic explanation of Boys' State. For one week in early June, 500 junior boys gathered at Gustavus Adolphus College to establish an imaginary state and gain experience by actual participation in Governmental activities. We elected our own city, county and state officials, and learned about government through our own involvement.

However, it is difficult to explain what such an experience meant to the participants. I have not even tried to express how important this week was to me, because I could talk for hours and never create a clear picture of the friends I made, the experiences I had, and the principles that I believed in and stood for during that week. Boys' State is truly an honor to be earned after receiving it, rather than before.

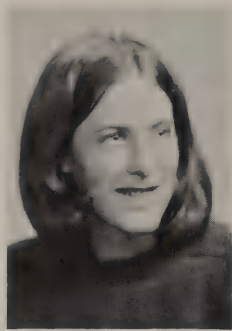

I would like to thank everyone who made my trip possible, because there are many other equally deserving boys at East who would have gained a great deal from the experience. I hope this year's representative will appreciate the honor as much as I did.

AFS — Peace through understanding

Maria Vera

Maria: I can't tell you how great this year has been. My experiences are unforgettable. I know now of different people and customs and a new language. Being here has opened new doors to me and shown me that it's not so hard to learn if you are optimistic and believe in time, because time does all for the understanding.

Now my dreams are coming true — reading books of the great English and American authors in their own language and speaking the language you learned as children, although I still need the dictionary.

Finally, I'm grateful to those wonderful people who assisted me in many ways, making my stay here one of the best times in my life — my American family the Carrs, my teachers, friends and acquaintances.

David: I find it nearly impossible to relate what my summer in India has meant to me. I shall never forget those last moments at the airport — we looked into each others' eyes and could say nothing. People are the wonderful thing about AFS, for people are the country. I would like to quote the AFS motto translated from Sanskrit: "Walk together, talk together, all the people of the Earth, then and only then shall you have peace."

Margaret: My American Field Service experience in Laos has thoroughly convinced me that there is no better way to become acquainted with a country than through its people.

By living with the Lvang Khots, my host family, I discovered the similarities and learned to appreciate the differences between cultures.

Olga's Ogres

For the past two years, it has been a privilege for me to serve as the coach of the finest team ever to have attended East. Named after a dear little lady, who resides somewhere between here and Two Harbors, Olga's Ogres have been an inspiration to everyone at East. Looking back on this last year, the Ogres have shown themselves to be a group of fun loving good samaritans. They won your hearts as a championship football team, they built the homecoming bonfire, and most of all; they put the fun in volleyball. (direct from their coach, Dave Blustin).

This is High-Q

Those zany idiots have done it again!! Yes, all you Eastites, your High-Q team finished another season undefeated. Their first encounter was with a purportedly tough Cloquet team that had edged Cathedral in a thrilling sudden death overtime to win the chance to face the champion East factmen. But "pumpkin power" couldn't stand up to superior brain power, and the supposedly tight game was a romp for the East quartet. The Bemidji Lumberjacks next fell before the East Buzzsaw, Rex LeVang. In their last contest, the Greyhounds were pressed by a strong Virginia team, but managed to win going away. Not only the first school to win three in a row, but the first to repeat as undefeated champions, East has established a reputation for quick buzzer pressing, said by some to be the most important aspect of the game.

The production of this year's Birch Log would not have been possible without the dedication of the financial staff and the patronage of many community businessmen. The business firms who have contributed financially to the yearbook are recognized on these pages. We, the members of the Birch Log staff, express our appreciation to those who have generously served and assisted us throughout the past year.

LOR

Po Thomas Iverson

when i am gone —

and others chat about the tracks i left behind — perhaps they'll weigh the paradox of how i chose my steps with smiles of sad surprise — perhaps the wind and sun will try to change the times in which i lived, denying that i ever walked this road — perhaps no one will even notice that i lived at all — it matters not — if i have learned to love my life —
